Civic Time Off Toolkit

An initiative to encourage employees to serve as nonpartisan poll workers.

July 2024
What is Civic Time Off?

Civic Time Off (CTO) is an initiative to encourage employees to serve as nonpartisan poll workers, filling a crucial shortage and giving employees first-hand insight into how our elections work.
Civic Time Off is specifically designed to support and increase participation in non-partisan election worker activities.

By implementing CTO, employers help employees gain crucial first-hand knowledge about how our elections work. They also help backfill a nationwide shortage of poll workers, improving our country's civic health. CTO does not facilitate and is not intended to facilitate any partisan, political, or advocacy-based activities.
How to Get Involved

The initiative is designed to be as flexible for employers as possible—every employer is different. We encourage you to implement it in whichever way works best for your organization. All that's necessary for employers to adopt CTO is to encourage employees to sign up via the Chamber Foundation’s poll worker recruitment tool.

1. Notify employees that they are allowed and encouraged to take paid time off to serve as poll workers.

2. Give employees an extra day of paid time off specifically for them to use to serve as a poll worker.

How can your organization implement CTO?
Civic Time Off

Three key steps to creating a thriving CTO program at your organization.

Opt-In
Make a company-wide decision to implement CTO. Plan a rollout to stakeholder groups, with special attention paid to engaging employees.

Launch
Make a company-wide announcement about CTO on or leading up to August 1st, which is National Poll Worker Recruitment Day.

Amplify
Spotlight and celebrate employees who serve as nonpartisan poll workers, continuing to encourage employees to take advantage of this opportunity.
Make a company-wide decision to implement Civic Time Off. Plan a rollout to stakeholder groups, with special attention paid to engaging employees.

Use the email templates below to generate buy-in among senior leadership and inform staff of the opportunity to be a poll worker.

Use the email templates leading up to and on August 1: National Poll Worker Recruitment Day, a nonpartisan initiative led by the U.S. Election Assistance Commission.

Key Steps

Develop a communications plan for a company-wide announcement. Important steps include:

- Share this informative one-pager with senior leaders to help build consensus that implementing CTO is a smart decision.
- Decide how your organization will implement CTO, and how your CTO policy will work for employees.

Have questions? Need some help? Reach out to the US Chamber of Commerce Foundation at CivicTrust@USChamber.com for additional information, assets, and ideas to help your organization opt-in to CTO.
Formally launch and promote CTO on or in the lead up to August 1, National Poll Worker Recruitment Day.

Share the U.S. Chamber Foundation’s poll worker recruitment tool via all-staff email template below by August 1, National Poll Worker Recruitment Day:

Key Steps

- Finalize employee policies, if necessary, for requesting and tracking CTO.
- Make a company-wide announcement about CTO, advertising the program to employees, use office print-outs to explain why employees should serve as poll workers.

On August 1st

- Create a poll worker recruitment campaign that begins in July and builds up to August 1.
- Share the Chamber Foundation’s poll worker recruitment tool with employees via a company-wide email.
- Share social media posts celebrating National Poll Worker Recruitment Day.
Continue to promote CTO on an ongoing basis beyond August 1, encouraging employees to take advantage of the program and celebrating them when they do.

Key Steps

- Spotlight employees when they take CTO to serve as poll workers.
- After employees serve as poll workers, collect and share their testimonials throughout your organization.
- Share “Day in the Life” of a poll worker information to encourage employees to take Civic Time Off.

Need some help?

Find here a few ideas to get you started.
By encouraging employees to consider using paid time off to serve as nonpartisan poll workers, employers play a critical role in filling the need for election workers across America—while giving employees the opportunity to gain knowledge on how elections are administered.
Appendix

Find links below to helpful resources:

- National Poll Worker Recruitment Day resources (link)
- Email templates employers can use to communicate about Civic Time Off (link)
- U.S. Chamber Foundation's poll worker recruitment tool (link)
- Template social media posts (link)
- Steps for how to support poll workers (link)